MISSION

To engage the people of West Toronto with the arts and artists in their own community.

To achieve our mission, we:

- Provide innovative and quality services designed to increase accessibility of the arts,
- Reach and involve special and diverse audiences,
- Create broad community awareness of the arts,
- Develop partnerships and networks to sustain local art activity.

LETTER FROM CO-CHAIRS AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

In this its 38th year, Arts Etobicoke continued to serve the local community in a variety of ways which highlighted the importance of the arts in our daily lives. As you will see, we have made a huge difference!

Indeed we were heartened to learn through the Ontario Arts Council's recent province-wide survey on arts engagement patterns that 8 in 10 Ontarians are engaged in community-based arts events; that engagement in participatory arts activities are associated with higher levels of attendance at both community-based and professional performances and that 95% of Ontarians said that they would like to be doing more arts activities than they are currently.

We are clearly on the right track! Not only have we provided support, programs and services for the arts and artists in our community, but we have also stepped up to advocate for the vital importance of the arts in its contribution to making our local community and by extension, the City of Toronto, a vibrant, beautiful, diverse and interesting place to live.

Two of our innovative programs delivered in partnership with other arts groups came to a conclusion in 2010/11: Art on the Move and urbanNOISE produced in collaboration with Lakeshore Arts and Expect Theatre respectively. These programs have created sustainable community arts models pointing to best practices for us and others to emulate. We plan to seek new financial support for these programs and continue these very successful collaborations.

We have also built on past and fruitful organizational relationships and helped support new programs. Growing out of our recent success of collaboration on Art on the Move, we teamed up with Youth Without Shelter - an emergency residence and referral agency in North Etobicoke serving homeless youth aged 16 to 24, to launch a new program that features ongoing multi-media arts workshops. Designed to build youth self-esteem and support YWS's life-skills building objectives, the program is led by professional arts educators and includes workshops in music, photography, dance, videography and more.

With the support of new funding partners and the expertise of our program staff, we refined and expanded long-standing existing programs. Our 15th annual smART stART Student Art Show at Sherway Gardens was enhanced by the addition of a Learning Centre for students and the general public, scholarships for all participating schools, and a new Smart Start Symposium which featured four free hands-on arts education workshops for students and teachers. We continued offering one-on-one professional artist critiques for all participating students.

Of course if Arts Etobicoke, as an organization, has had any impact, it was only possible with the support of the many who energize it, provide creative ideas, give generously of their time as volunteers, fund its activities, and work long hours to promote its successful work. So to our member groups, program partners, growing numbers of volunteers of all ages, sponsors and funders, both old and new, the Board of Directors and our hard-working and dedicated staff - a huge THANK YOU! All of you collectively have contributed in helping Arts Etobicoke make a real art-filled difference in our community.

ART ON THE MOVE

2011 marked the third and final year of the initial phase of this exciting, inter-generational community arts initiative.

Five teams of artists, community groups and vehicle owners came together this year to adorn five more Toronto vehicles with “art instead of advertising” to bring surprise encounters with art to every corner of Toronto. www.artonthemove.ca

Presented by Arts Etobicoke and Lakeshore Arts. Generously supported by the Ontario Trillium Foundation.

Team #1 - Artist Amir Akbari teamed up with young people from the Toronto Public Library (TPL) Mimico Centennial branch's Youth Advisory Group to paint a TPL delivery van.

Team #2 - Artist Erica Brisson worked with seniors from the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health (CAMH) to transform a large passenger bus that transports CAMH clients.

Team #3 - Artist Denise St. Marie and adults with intellectual disabilities from Etobicoke's Creative Village Studio decorated a van from Community Living Toronto.

Members of the Creative Village team. “(It brought) a sense of pride to these guys...just to see their work become gelled on a moving vehicle out in the community;” (Harold Tomlinson, Facilitator, Creative Village Studio).

ART ON THE MOVE

Team #5 - Artist Amanda Strong worked with youth from Second Base Youth Shelter on a design for a vehicle owned by the Boys and Girls Club of East Scarborough.

“Combining the best of community activism, clever culture-jamming and a focus on mobility in the city, Art on the Move pairs artists with organizations...for the act of decorating...vehicles for passengers and passersby alike.”

OUR VOLUNTEERS – OUR HEROES

The Arts Etobicoke volunteer team is a powerful force, allowing us to better serve our community with local, accessible, high-quality arts programming. This diverse group includes teens, corporate volunteers, artists, university students and other community members.

They provide assistance for numerous activities:

- Gallery Exhibitions
- Artful Palate Fundraiser
- Art Alley Mural Project
- Art on the Move Launch
- smART stART Student Art Show
- urbanNOISE
- Saturday Storefront Classes
- After-School Art Drop In
- General Office

We were thrilled to have the support of ten volunteers from Mercedes-Benz Financial Services at the 15th anniversary celebration of our smART stART Student Art Show. We appreciated their energy, thoughtfulness and willingness to help with anything that needed to be done.

VOLUNTEER IMPACT

250 hours volunteered at 15th annual smART stART Student Art Show

10 number of volunteers who have secured paid contracts at Arts Etobicoke

25 youth volunteers

Kathe Illescas and Juhye Lee signed on for numerous volunteer shifts at the 2011 smART stART Student Art Show and joined us again at the Art on the Move launch. They are both new to Canada and find volunteering to be a great way to meet people. We enjoyed their spirit of adventure and tireless work ethic.

Our Youth Volunteer Team is like fresh air! They assisted with numerous activities, from mailings to framing artwork to taking photos at the Student Art Show. Reliable, dedicated and enthusiastic, they made a spirited & delightful contribution to every event they assisted with.

When I started as a volunteer for Arts Etobicoke I was driven by a desire to support the arts. Later, while continuing to be an enthusiastic advocate for the arts, I decided that above all, volunteering should be fun. And it is.

There are many reasons to engage in your community, and one reason is as good as the next. Arts Etobicoke is a fantastic place to be a volunteer - lots of activities and events, interesting people, exciting work, generous recognition of your work and a welcoming environment. What an opportunity to do something that matters!

Karina Dahlin, Volunteer

OUR VOLUNTEERS – OUR HEROES

Volunteering at Arts Etobicoke is a special activity for one family in our neighbourhood.

We met Faten Toubasi over four years ago when she visited our office and gallery in Islington Village. New to Canada from her native Palestine, Faten started volunteering for our then new Saturday Storefront Art Class program.

We soon learned that Faten holds specialist degrees in art education for children, and we were happy to be able to offer her paid contracts to lead several of the classes. While she continues to volunteer for Arts Etobicoke, Faten has currently been hired as the facilitator for our After-School Art Drop-In, newly launched in 2010.

Faten and her family live in the nearby Mabelle community. Faten's children Hala and Nayef and their friends volunteer regularly at Arts Etobicoke and have also participated in our free art classes.

As well, Faten's nephews Omar and Raj volunteered regularly at Arts Etobicoke. We appreciate the amazing volunteer support we continue to receive from Faten and her family!

PROGRAMS IN NORTH ETOBICOKE

Nearly ten years ago, the Board of Arts Etobicoke made a commitment to increase the amount of free arts education and programs for communities that are underserved, specifically North Etobicoke.

In 2010-11, North Etobicoke continued to be a major priority for Arts Etobicoke – existing partnerships in that community were strengthened and new ones were developed. For example, we partnered for the first time with Rexdale Pro Tech Media Centre, a life-skills centre for at-risk youth, on the exhibit Concealed Beauty: Photography, Video Art And Digital Graffiti by Rexdale Youth – part of the Toronto-wide 2011 CONTACT Photography Festival.

This venture was extremely rewarding for Arts Etobicoke staff and volunteers as new friendships were made with these talented youth.

Jeremy Sale, photographer

Rexdale youth Kirk showcased an emotional graffiti piece in Arts Etobicoke's 'Concealed Beauty' show to honour the memory of a young friend. Kirk's piece caught the attention of high-profile street artists, and he was invited to participate in the Street Art Showcase in September 2011, a public event where artists had their work projected on various Toronto buildings.

urbanNOISE Training & Festival Program

“(urbanNOISE is) changing the perception of Rexdale- as the home of the gun, gangs and drug-related crime - to a new home featuring the beauty, artistic talent and inventiveness of its youth”

Former Mayor David Miller

The 6th annual urbanNOISE Festival took place at the Albion Library in Rexdale and had the largest and most responsive audience of any of the past years. Under the leadership of our partner Expect Theatre, 55 young people were involved in the training sessions that led up to this year’s Festival. Many of these young people took on a greater role in producing and promoting the Festival.

Since its beginnings six years ago, urbanNOISE has had a positive impact on hundreds of young people who used their energies, talents, skills and ideas in innovative ways, not only to train in urban arts, but also to communicate a strong anti-violence message.

This program focuses attention on the diversity of this community's art forms and away from its reputation of guns, gangs and violence. It is a strong testament to the transformative influence that involvement in and of the arts can have for a community.

urbanNOISE is supported by The Ontario Trillium Foundation, Canadian Heritage, Ontario Arts Council, City of Toronto and The Geoffrey H. Wood Foundation

TREASURER'S REPORT

As in the prior year and in fiscal year 2011 there continues to remain much uncertainty in the economy and throughout the various levels of government, which has greatly impacted the charitable sector, particularly the arts.

These pressures, along with current day-to-day operations of Arts Etobicoke, have been superbly managed by Executive Director Louise Garfield and her staff, with the support of the Board of Directors. Arts Etobicoke continues to carefully manage expenses and to effectively utilize every dollar of funding and donations received to provide valued services to members and to all participants and stakeholders of our various programs.

Financial highlights from fiscal year 2011 are: continuing to provide the Presidents' Legacy Scholarship Fund in the amount of $11,128 (up from $10,282 in the prior year), obtaining increased donations from foundations of approximately $30,000 enabling us to continue to provide and increase programming. We were able to maintain a positive cash flow during the year, through all the uncertainty.

This will provide us with a strong position for the future. Arts Etobicoke values the relationships we have with our new and ongoing funders and partners as well as our community. We thank them and the many other sponsors, members, volunteers and donors who regularly contribute to our organization.

The Board and staff of Arts Etobicoke express their sincere appreciation to all the individuals, businesses, corporations and foundations that donate to our arts programs.

All donations – large and small – make a difference, helping us to:

- reach out to local children, youth and families, including at-risk youth in North Etobicoke
- provide a safe & fun learning environment for local families
- promote and nurture diverse artists, both emerging and established

EARLA ALEXANDER – OUR CULTURAL CHAMPION

On March 31, 2011, artist, educator and long-time Arts Etobicoke supporter Earla Alexander was celebrated as a Community Cultural Champion at the launch of the Celebrate 27 Arts Fest (C27) at Brookfield Place in Toronto.

We gratefully acknowledge Earla's ongoing support of Arts Etobicoke. In 1999, the inaugural year of the Presidents' Legacy Scholarship Fund, she was among the leading contributors, establishing the Earla Alexander Scholarship for the Ontario College of Art and Design. This scholarship is awarded annually to deserving young art students. Now well into her nineties, Earla continues to paint and inspire us.

18-year-old Ema Nikolovska, recipient of the Stephen Staryk Violin Scholarship with Co-chair Karl Sprögis at the Royal Conservatory

Music is where my heart is; it is my first love, my passion, and most importantly, playing music makes me feel alive more than anything....

I was born in Skopje, Macedonia and came with my parents to Canada when I was about one year old. My father played violin in a Macedonian folk music ensemble as a young man, and he is really the root of my love for music.... When I was four years old, he gave me my first violin and I began to take lessons at the Royal Conservatory.

Ultimately my dream is to create, and to use that creativity to inspire all kinds of people to find the artist within themselves and find the will to create as well, to discover themselves, to question their society....

I would like to thank you profusely for making this possible, for being a part of my dreams, and for believing in the power and beauty of music, art and education.

Yours truly,
Ema Nikolovska
